

BowWow Haus London

BowWow Haus London - Bespoke dog kennel auction

Started 26 Apr 2018 19:30 BST

St. Pancras Renaissance
Hotel London
Euston Road
London
NW1 2AR
United Kingdom

Lot	Description
1	This kennel, made entirely of stainless steel tile, is a collaborative effort between Jay Goulde of Outdoor Arts Foundation, Jess Wirts of JCON Commercial, Alan Dezayas of Avon Modular and Troy & Carolyn Secor. It was created for that pampered pooch with a bit of panache.
2	This kennel from Chris Dyson Architects uses simple and elegant geometry married with a limited material palette to create a sculptural object as well as a functioning dog home. It has a high grade plywood finish sealed with a touch veneer similar to that used on boat decking which will allow the ke ...[more]
3	'Oscar,'the toy poodle, poses with'Pucci Palace'designed and built by Miranda Knight of MKM mosaics in Bristol.Constructedfrom curved Marine Ply, it is adorned with more than 4,000 pieces of hand cut stained glass with additional galls embellishments of gold mirror, glitter, pearlescent andir ...[more]
4	RESERVE £2000 Our society is becoming increasingly nomadic and aesthetically conscientious. Based on this principle, the TravelKennel is designed by Studio Lisboaeta to look like a super-sized travelling bag that can be 'worn' as a statement accessory. Our concept plays with the collective memory of ...[more]
5	RESERVE £2000 This fun design is designed and built by London architects Russian for Fish. It is inspired by St Basil's Cathedral in Red Square, Moscow, and built from shaped plastic and the orb is decorated with real gold leaf. It has been painstakingly built over just one month. The dome was fashi ...[more]
6	RESERVE £3000 St Pooch Haus is a collaborative work by Christina Fallah, Fiona, Francois and Amelie of Sterling Studios, and John Roberts of Lightplan, with supporting roles from Alfie, Pico and Pretzel. The design is inspired by the architecture of St Pancras with the use of a specific choice of ma ...[more]
7	RESERVE £1500 This kennel is byDenise Jaques of Mosaic Happy, Farnham in Surrey.It is akennelbuilt from wedi board and jesmonite, adorned with more than 3, 000 pieces of glass and took more than 400 hours to build. Its design is inspired by rhythm, light, colour and movement.The doghouse is pic ...[more]
8	RESERVE £2000 Created byLondon based Denizen Works and Cantifix, thisglass kennelwithin a kennelis designed to hold 2,000 tennis ballsto ensure your four legged friend never runs out of balls to play with.The design and build time was around 100 hours.Modelling is'Maisy'theCockapoo. Sponso ...[more]
9	RESERVE £1000 Built by DLM Architects and fabricated by DLM. Designed as a floating monolithic concrete block, the top opens to reveal a storage area with the front folding down to provide a seated platform. The timber screen allows airflow with the facility to enclose the kennel for crate training ...[more]
10	RESERVE £1500 Rosie, the border terrier, isin the kennel built by Formation Architects of London, which functions as a piece of furniture with a storage area for dog's toys in the roof. The kennelhas a removable quilted lining for use outside. When brought inside it's transformed into a modern pi ...[more]

- 11 RESERVE £2000 FT Architects of London with Bruce Oldfield have created a gold chrome egg-shaped kennel constructed from glass fibre with a plush red interior. Bertie the Border terrier is modelling. It took around 100 hours to design and build this beautiful piece. 'We were teamed up with Bruce Oldf ...[more]
-
- 12 RESERVE £2000 PLYable Design and E Dable Architecture. The Kable, where kennel meets table. Dogs love to hang out under the dinner table, so why not make that space a bit more purpose made? Merge that with eating outside and we've come up with a design that could be used for both. When the sun's shin ...[more]
-
- 13 By Roselind Wilson Design of London with metalwork by DM Design Ltd. The concept for our design developed from our appreciation of versatility and authenticity with inspiration drawn from the form, function and flexibility of a crate or shipping container. A crate is also a secure structure that lend ...[more]
-
- 14 RESERVE £1500 The Pooch Palace by Tamara Froud was designed to offer a splash of The Great Gatsby panache with a cosy and comforting interior space where a dog can feel safe to curl up and rest. The exquisite 3D mosaic interior flows around the pod complimenting its unique shape. It is a pod that co ...[more]
-
- 15 RESERVE £2500 Designed and built by TLA Studio of London with the concept by Louise Glazebrook, it is made from 12 pieces of bendable plywood and has a 'rainbow' colour interior with a rope base. The ingenious design allows the whole thing to be folded flat. Posing in the kennel is whippet 'Poppy.'
-
- 16 RESERVE £7500 Cloud by Zaha Hadid Design is pictured with 'Ziggy' the Portuguese water hound. The design is an elevated, hollow plywood sphere built on a CNC machine then bonded together before being painstakingly hand-finished. It was designed to keep a dog's paws off the cold ground and is thoug ...[more]
-
- 17 This beautiful mosaic, Alice in Wonderland-themed kennel is by St Petersburg (Florida) artist Allison Shelly Redd. Complete with "Drink Me" bottle, Tea Party, and mosaic tiled floor, it's sure to add color and whimsy for a creative canine! Built by Jess Wirts of JCON Commercial.
-
- 18 RESERVE £5000 By Jane Perkins. St Roch is the Patron Saint of dogs. During the 14th century, St Roch survived the plague having allegedly been healed by a dog who licked a wound on his thigh. Inspired by the roadside shrines of Southern Europe, which to my mind are shaped somewhat like dog kennels, ...[more]
-
- 19 RESERVE £3000 Florida artist Eileen Goldenberg's incredible "Dogs Rule II" castle kennel features over 20,000 individual pieces of gold and silver costume jewellery along with objects d'art found from throughout her travels around the world. This stunning piece is also decorated inside with a gothi ...[more]
-
- 20 Florida artist Jeff Monsein of Splat Paint's beautiful tribute to the Royal Wedding is a cake-themed kennel made out of pearlescent white tile with hand-crafted flowers and icing made out of plaster.
-
- 21 Spring flower octagonal Tee Pee mosaic kennel by Natalie Guy of Bournemouth. Made from a marine ply chassis and adorned with 540 iridescent glass flowers of 5 petals each making up 2500 pieces (hand cut) with mirror centres and white buds. It took a month to design and build. The miniature Schnauzer is c ...[more]
-
- 22 RESERVE £3000 Famed surrealist Jim Warren created this amazing kennel titled the ""Dog Decorator"" complete with a portrait of a King Charles spaniel on one side and a cartoon on the other. The roof of the kennel is painted with Warren's signature sunset framed with a multi-coloured heart.
-
- 23 Florida artist Sally Evans created this stunning tribute to the King Charles spaniel aptly titled "Sally's Pally". Sally's signature style is highlighted on the kennel which features two portraits and two crowns, perfect for your favourite Prince or Princess pooch.
-
- 24 RESERVE £3000 The walls of St Rovers by Devon-based Sue Smith are stained glass mosaic and the roof is made up from vintage china. The kennel base is sheet aluminium, kindly made and donated by CPE Pressure Vessels, Tamworth.

-
- 25 Florida artist Stephanie Ong created this gorgeous mosaic tile kennel inspired by the abstract expressionist palette she paints with. This incredibly vibrant kennel features an air vent to make sure your dog can catch a nice breeze on those warm summer days.
-
- 26 The Home Sweet Home mosaic kennel is by London mosaic artist Sarah Stanley. It took just over a month to create and is made up of thousands and thousands of hand-cut pieces of French porcelain, silver leaf, and gold and copper leaf under glass; it really shines and sparkles in the sunlight. For the ...[more]
-
- 27 Florida artist Rasta Geary Taylor created this tribute to the legends of Manchester United Football Club. The kennel features a replica of Old Trafford with portraits of Wayne Rooney, David Beckham, Cristiano Ronaldo, Bobby Charlton, Ryan Giggs and Paul Pogba. Built by Ralph McCucheon.
-
- 28 The design of the K3 came from a simple sketch of a hollow cube. While keeping its rigid six-sided structure, the interior space is organic and free flowing; a negative shape with no defined edges. The four openings allow for a spacious and easy experience in every direction, while not seeming too ...[more]
-
- 29 'I approached the design of our BowWow Haus London entry intent on creating a contemporary, dynamic interpretation of the classic doghouse. I was at first dismayed when I learned that our completed design had to fit into a rather small 40" high x 40" wide x 40" long shipping crate, but sometimes it is ...[more]
-
- 30 Designed by Brian O'Tuama Architects who say: "A Japanese Shiba Inu named Alfie keeps us company in our studio. Our design has been inspired by his Japanese heritage and by the breed's natural curiosity and alertness. Sheltered indoor and outdoor spaces, together with walls that vary in their opac ...[more]
-
- 31 "At Gruff, we enjoy and utilise a wide range of design and representational techniques, including physical modelling, traditional draftsmanship and computer generated imagery. 'A Kennel for Otto' is a playful and functional design, exploring digital fabrication techniques at a dog scale. The open-to ...[more]
-
- 32 Florida artist Jules Burt came to prominence in the early 90s when her work was featured on the set of the television programme "Friends". Jules' "Bark Gallery" eclectic kennel is a tribute to the ladies of the US and UK in her signature style. The art gallery inside the kennel features artwork fo ...[more]
-
- 33 Designed by piM.studio Architects, PiM.dog is an elegant and playful object; it is at the same time a house and an interactive toy. The shape of PiM.dog Bow Wow Haus can be rotated in different positions to suit the dog size, or just for fun! It is composed of nine plywood panels cut via CNC machine ...[more]
-
- 34 JH-Collective sought inspiration from the Blue Cross and the animals that they help when designing 'The Diamond In The Woof'. Founder of JH-Collective, Jessie, rescues cats and knows only too well the raw vulnerability of these animals we come to love as pets and has seen how a loving home allows th ...[more]
-
- 35 By Green Tea Architects and Ben Fogle with joinery by Shape London. The Green Nest was a fun group collaboration that we created with input from Ben Fogle who gave us some early suggestions of what he would like. We ran with two of his suggestions in regards to the use of timber and the fact that h ...[more]
-
- 36 Designed by renowned artist Ptolemy Erlington, this untitled piece features upcycled automotive parts including hubcaps and fenders. Using tremendous skill and talent, Ptolemy has shaped these pieces to create more of a veranda for canines rather than just a kennel. It is meant to provide shelter wh ...[more]
-
- 37 The design features stage lighting, glamorous red curtains and even a bespoke back stage area. Materials and fabrication are by ChopShop CNC. Inspired by celebrity Russell Watson's show-business life on the stage, Travis Alan Mills has captured the contrasts between the glamour of the stage and the f ...[more]
-

- 38 By Yelo Architects; Fabrication by Vertex Joinery. Our design takes the form of the classic pitched roof dog kennel and reduces it to a simple cube. The angular lines lost from the removal of the roof are translated into a gold strip embedded in the form, creating two distinct sections. The base sec ...[more]
-
- 39 By Carl Trenfield Architects. On an immediately tangible level, A house for Stanley adopts and then upwardly reflects the quintessential profile of the kennel. The form is then abstracted in its depth, ensuring the profile is revealed only in elevation. Made of sticks, and a monument to dogs, it emb ...[more]
-
- 40 Florida artist Chelsea Commodari's kennel is a tribute to the late Sir Roger Moore. Titled "For Your Paws Only", the kennel features white and black Carrera marble tile fashioned to resemble the now famous "Gun Barrel Sequence" that opens every Bond film. A plush pad is included for dogs to relax ...[more]
-
- 41 Condy Lofthouse Architects and celebrity Anne Robinson have teamed up to create a wonderful doghouse which Anne thinks is the perfect place for a bit of 'me time' for any four-legged friends. With thanks to MAKE Liverpool for use of the facilities to build this puppy palace.
-
- 42 This beautiful kennel by US architect Derek Ray of Embrace Forever features multiple levels for dogs and cats to chill out and view their surroundings.
-
- 43 By Emil Minkov
-
- 44 From Greta Sanders Kusterbeck and Nigel Milligan of Tons of Tile comes this gorgeous kennel made of iridised tile beads and a bamboo roof. Slats are cut into the kennel to provide cooling air to pass through whilst an artificial grass floor keeps your dog's paws lean on the inside.
-
- 45 The dog on top of the kennel is built by Serena de la Hey of Somerset, famed for building the giant willow man of Bridgwater which is visible from the M5. The kennel is built by Coates English Willow who have been growing willow for seven generations on the Somerset levels. The kennel is made from m ...[more]
-
- 46 By Francesca Busca: "My aim was to make something resembling a place which a dog would choose in nature: large, dark, ventilated and dry. A place where to feel safe and relaxed. At the same time, something that showed how a dog belongs to the eco-system just as much as we do (resembling a manmade st ...[more]
-
- 47 This kennel by Safety Harbor artist, Heather Richardson, features mosaic mirrors and bones made of polymer clay... the title, "Game of Bones," of course! Inside the kennel, a carpeted floor keeps your puppy's paws dry. Built by Jess Wirts of JCON Commercial
-
- 48 By Ivan Djidev who says: 'I was inspired to create a small temple from the wooden kennel that I got at the beginning of this amazing project. My idea was to create a special place where a dog can relax once inside and be playful with the outside decoration. I used different kinds of colourful glass ...[more]
-
- 49 Created by staff of the Outdoor Arts Foundation, the Canine Campanile is inspired by the Campanile di San Marco in Venice. The kennel features natural stone with a green glass tile roof. Built by Jess Wirts of JCON Commercial.
-
- 50 Venezuelan-born artist Joanne Osborn's kennel titled "English Garden Daydream" is beautifully painted in soft iridescent tones with images of miniature schnauzers and dachshunds. Inside, there is an artificial grass floor and decorated walls to keep your dog happy inside and out. It was built by Je ...[more]
-
- 51 This unique kennel from art teacher Martha Deambrose and several of her students at Tampa Preparatory School is titled "Wags and Waves" and features acrylic portholes so your best friend can get a 360 view of their surroundings. Beautiful shades of turquoise and yellow glass are featured on all ...[more]
-

- 52 At Petplan, we know our pets are part of the family and only the best is good enough for them. Therefore, we created Barkingham Palace as our Kings and Queens need somewhere extra special to lay their heads. We also created a few extra touches, including our Petplan customer wallpaper and 'Paw-time ...[more]
-
- 53 This beautiful kennel titled "Take Paws" from Florida artist Rich Brown features a dog sculpture on top, hand carved from a single block of reclaimed wood. A comfy rug is provided for the inside to make sure your pampered pooch stays nice and warm.
-
- 54 This lovely contemporary kennel from Peruvian-born, New York based architect Rosa Gamarra features perspex so your dog can get a lovely view of its surroundings. A battery powered light inside ensures your best friend will never be left in the dark. Included is a cosy rug so your pampered pooch can ...[more]
-
- 55 This bespoke doghouse is by Design Haus Liberty and built by Fabtech Engineering. Our four legged furry friend gets a modern interpretation of Palladio's classic architectural icon: The Villa Rotunda. Except for this millennial mutt, we have celebrated the new aged pup by featuring mirrored arcs around ...[more]
-
- 56 This gorgeous Jamaican-themed kennel by Florida artists Dee Rodrigues and Silas Beach is made with a wood frame and is entirely covered in mosaic glass. A portrait of Bob Marley is featured on one of the sides to make sure your Maga Dog is a happy dog. Built by Jess Wirts of JCON Commercial.
-
- 57 By Sue Penrose. Made from mirror, glass and ceramic tiles. Designed to bring year round sunshine and joy to you and your dog.
-
- 58 A terrace in the round of varying sizes of doghouses with a central drinking bowl forms SPARKS' convivial Reservoir Dogs, one of two designs for this exhibition by the company. The terrace is composed of unique doghouses fabricated from a variety of recycled materials. When placed side by side, they ...[more]
-
- 59 All dogs love to play, especially around water. Studio Octopi has taken the brief for a kennel and thrown it in some water, designing the first ever amphibious dog house. A kennel shouldn't be only a place to retreat to, but also a place that stimulates exercises and entertains. Thinking about all that ...[more]
-
- 60 The concept of the design "less is more" is based on an idea of having one flexible unique kennel design which can be transformed in four different shapes by rotating the structure from left or right. "Bart House" minimalist design is characterized by the simplicity and clear lines which emphasize that ...[more]
-
- 61 Designed by Studio Shaw.
-
- 62 This kennel is by SPARK Architects. Polyethylene terephthalate, commonly abbreviated PET, is the most common thermoplastic polymer used for plastic containers, primarily bottle production. A million plastic bottles are bought around the world every minute with more than 480 billion plastic drinking bottles ...[more]
-